STEAMER SINKS, BUT ALL REACH SHORE SAFELY

ACCIDENT TO MISSISSIPPI RIVER CRAFT THIS MORNING.

ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY SAFE

Coolness of the Crew Makes It Possible to Avert a Terrible Disaster.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
St. Louis, Mo., July 11.—The river steamer "Cape Girardeau" struck a snag and sank in the Mississippi river today at Turkey Island, fifty miles south of here. One hundred and fifty passengers were taken ashore safely.
The boat was returning from Commerce, Mo., and many of the passengers were women and children. They were all asleep when the boat hit the obstruction. The alarm was given by Captain William H. Loyche.

Passengers crowded on the deck and as the members of the crew quicker than they were taken to the shore in boats. Later they were brought to St. Louis by train.
That no lives were lost was due to the coolness of the captain and the able manner in which the crew acted.
The women and children were first taken to the shore and later the male passengers were transported.

COUNTY CHARGE WAS FOUND TO BE RICH

Had Much Money in the Bank When He Died—Former Employer Forced to Surrender It to County.

[BY UNITED PRESS.]
Waukesha, Wis., July 11.—Through an action in county court it has developed that Mathias Rosman, who died at the county farm on May 28, a county charge, had over $11,000 to his credit in Milwaukee banks.
George P. Carroll, superintendent of the farm, recently secured information regarding Mr. Rosman's property and caused Theodore Rensch, for whom Mr. Rosman had worked for about a year before going to the county farm, to be cited before the county court to surrender any of the property which he might have in his possession. Mr. Rensch had two certificates of deposit, one for $5,000 on the First National Bank of Milwaukee and one for $5,200 on the Marine Bank. He has no relatives.

MADISON BOY WAS LOCKJAW VICTIM

Dies From Injury Received From Cap
Used in Fourth of July

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., July 11.—Lawrence Pizzo, aged twelve, died at the hospital last night as the result of lockjaw received from a powder wound on July 7.
A dynamite cap used in the can-ies was forced into his hand, and so insignificant seemed the wound that no attention was paid to it for a week.
Then when his jaws tightened a doctor was called and an operation performed, and the boy died in convulsions. Last May the city council passed an ordinance prohibiting fireworks, including cane caps, after July 5, 1910, to protect the dealers who already had ordered stocks. To this municipal motive one life has been sacrificed.

Milwaukee, July 11.—A temporary injunction was issued today by Circuit Commissioner Roche forbidding any work on the proposed new speed building at the state fair park. The injunction is at the request of Thomas J. Nease, who made a vain effort to have the governor interfere. Mr.
Nease proposed to have the entire square settled by the court before any further action is taken at the state fair park in the fight between the Milwaukee members of the state board of agriculture and President McKerrrow and his associates.

G. O. P. TICKET IN STATE OF ALABAMA

Republicans Will Probably Espouse Cause of Prohibition and Name a Complete State of Candidates.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Birmingham, Ala., July 11.—The republicans of Alabama propose to nominate a complete state ticket at their convention in this city tomorrow.
Among the party leaders already on the field there appears to be a strong sentiment in favor of making the campaign a straight-out fight for prohibition. Those advocating this course believe it would be a wise move in view of the attitude of Colonel Bennet O'Neil, the democratic nominee for governor, who favors local option in preference to constitutional prohibition. By nominating a strong prohibitionist for governor the republican leaders believe they could rally to their standard the prohibitionists of all parties.

MANITOBA ELECTORS THROW TO POLLS

And Upon Their Verdict Depends the Fate of Conservative Government—Campaign Has Been Exciting.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Winnipeg, Man., July 11.—The electors throughout Manitoba are today expressing their political preferences and on their verdict depends the fate of the conservative government, which, under the premiership of Hon.
R. P. Roblin, has been in office continuously for the past ten years. The campaign has been keenly contested all over the province, and although most unbiased observers predict a reversal of power for the conservatives the result cannot be accurately fore-casted.

Throughout the campaign there have been few great questions discussed. The fight has been one largely of personalities, and many serious charges of corruption and personal misconduct have been exchanged. A story alleging "the sale of judgeships" has played a conspicuous part in the campaign and has led to several suits for slander. The coming of Sir Wilfrid Laurier to Manitoba at the present time, presumably in the interest of the liberal party, is another feature that has added spice to the campaign by arousing the ire of the conservatives.

Premier Roblin has conducted his fight for continuance in office on two leading issues, the government's elevator bill and the extension of Manitoba boundaries. The demand of the Roblin government for the extension of the boundaries of Manitoba to Hudson's Bay, so as to make the prairie province a maritime one has been more or less of a burning topic over since 1905, when the question was formally brought to the attention of the dominion government. To Manitoba, the matter is considered of great importance because of its need of a seaport, and of its cherished hope of constructing a railway to carry that port and to ship western grain via Hudson's Bay to the European markets.

The liberal party denies that the Roblin government is entitled to any credit for the boundary extension project, but on the other hand alleges that the delay in settling the boundary question is directly due to this dilatory tactics of the government.
The liberals propose to settle the boundary question by accepting the territory offered by the dominion government, and will ask the latter to transfer to the province all the lands, minerals and natural resources of the territory.

In addition to the way it has handled the boundary dispute, the Roblin administration prides itself on its telephone policy, resulting in the government buying out the Bell Telephone company for $5,000,000. It is claimed that immense public benefit has followed this deal.

The liberal party, of which T. C.
Norris is the leader for the first time in the present contest, has severely criticized the present administration for its alleged extravagance. The claim is made that the Roblin government, in their ten years of office, have spent over eight million dollars more than the Greenway government did in their last ten years of office.
It is charged that very little of the extra money has been spent in public improvements, the greater part of it, according to the liberal allegations, having been spent for salaries.

The liberals, in their party platform, advocate direct legislation by means of the initiative and referendum, compulsory education and the extension of school facilities, a "progressive" majority vote in local option, a definite and progressive policy on agriculture, and the reorganization of the province with the municipalities in the building of good roads.

BADGER DEMOCRATS SEEM VERY HOPEFUL

Leaders Rallying at Milwaukee For Convention Tomorrow Revive the Old War Hope.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Milwaukee, Wis., July 11.—To all appearances more hopeful of success at the polls next November than they have felt in a number of years, the democratic leaders of Wisconsin are rallying here in force to attend the state convention of their party tomorrow. The adoption of a party platform will be the chief work of the convention. Though the Supreme Court recently held that there was nothing in the primary law to prevent the platform conventions from nominating candidates it is unlikely that the delegates in their convention will go as far as to discuss the choice of candidates will be left to the coming primary election. There will be no difficulty in filling the ticket, the leaders say, owing to the feeling that there is a possibility of this being a democratic year. As a consequence of this feeling the candidates for places on the ticket are unusually numerous.
The names of Burr W. Jones of Madison, A. J. Schmitz of Milwaukee and Congressman Charles H. Welsch of the 8th district, continue to be most prominently mentioned in connection with the gubernatorial nomination.

players from many parts of the United States and Canada have gathered here to take part in the twentieth

Whist League, which began at the Clifton Hotel this morning and will

The whist players are full of serious purpose, and the program does not contemplate much sight-seeing or other diversions. It calls for whist playing morning, afternoon and night.
Promptly at 2 o'clock this afternoon several hundred players opened the contest for the Brooklyn trophy, which is one of the rewards for skillful playing most sought after by the members of the congress. The other prizes for which contests will continue through the week include the Hamilton club trophy, the Milwaukee trophy, the Manhattan trophies and the Congress trophy.

PEN WIPERS HAVE A DECIDED LEAD

SATURDAY HALF HOLIDAY GAMES ARE WELL ATTENDED THIS YEAR.

STANDING OF THE CLUBS

Parker Pen Defeated Y. M. C. A. Saturday and Rock River Woolen

Mills Did Same to Caloric.

Much interest is being shown in the Saturday afternoon games of the Commercial League. Thus far the Parker Pen team has a clean score and is leading in the point race with the Rock River Woolen Mills.

The standing of the clubs up to date is as follows:

Parker Pen Co. 4-0 1000

Lewis Knitting Co. 2-2 668

R. R. Woolen Mills. 2-2 500

Y. M. C. A. 1-3 250

Caloric 1-4 200

In the Saturday games the Parker Pen put it all over the Y. M. C. A. teams winning by a score of 11 to 0.

The errors by the Y. M. C. A. players were responsible for the high score by their opponents also the failure to take advantage of opportunities to score and needless base running.

The one great draw back to the playing was the failure of the Y. M. C. A. team to hit butlers who pitched an excellent game. The following is the score:

PARKER PEN CO. A.B. H. R.

AMERICAN "NEW RICH" ASSAILED

DR. BEATON SAYS AMERICAN MILLIONAIRES ARE VERY EX-TRAVAGANT.

VIRTUES OF SIMPLE LIFE

Idea of Higher Standard of Living Should be Distorted to Mean Extravagance and Waste.

Taking exception to the statement of a recent writer that, compared with European habits, the American people were not extravagant, Dr. David Beaton, in his sermon at the union church last evening, said that American millionaires were extravagant in their expenditures for personal luxury and frequently for personal vice.

The simple life was held up as the model life to live.

Dr. Beaton's subject was "The Simple Life," and his text was taken from the fifteenth verse of the twelfth chapter of the Gospel of Luke and the parable following: "And he said unto them, take heed, and beware of covetousness; for a man's life consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth."

"The real thing we are all interested in," said Dr. Beaton, "is life; the joy, and strength and victory of life. In the story of the Bible the emphasis is laid on the fact that he thought he could have more joy, more strength, and more victories if he had a great many things—fine dress, rich foods and all the appendages of wealth. The fact is that these are more impediments to the journey of life, burdens and mere trash. The man who goes camping and buys many things for comfort while he is camping has to have a man to carry these things when all that is needed is a light buck plate and an open fire. This shows us that the Simple Life means thoughts and not things. That is what gives pleasure, brings joy, strength and victory to us, not things."

"We know that the higher life is cheap and easily obtained. Books, pictures, music and the company of little children and friends are accessible and easily obtained, while rich dresses, luxurious food, all kinds of equipment and splendid mansions are expensive. In the same way is vice difficult—crambling, drinking and the general license of life that most people imagine is the way to 'see life.' Extravagance therefore is the enemy of the Simple Life."

"The great question we are interested in as an American people, is whether we are extravagant or not. A recent writer says in comparison with the European aristocracy our American millionaires are not extravagant, and the illustrations he gives seem to show that the European aristocracy are certainly more extravagant. They keep up palaces, race courses and a magnificent style of living that none of our millionaires keep up and compared with the simple life of John D. Rockefeller the extravagance of European nobility is very striking."

"And although the European aristocracy spend more money, the way they spend it and the objects they spend it for are very different from the vulgar, idle and luxurious expenditures of American millionaires. The reason is this: the great expenditure of the European aristocracy is largely on his own estate. Improvements on the estate, collections of art, stables, sport and all the appendages of wealth, while the noble himself may be leading a comparatively simple life. In case an American comes into the possession of great wealth, in recent times, their funds and manner of living is more in the form of personal extravagance and frequently in the form of personal vice as numerous examples, especially in the second generation, would show."

"The danger of all this lies in the weakness of the common people. In saving to imitate the 'new rich,' many men and women are mortgaging their little homes to buy automobiles and thousands are living beyond their means. The ideas of thrift and economy are being poached."

"No reference is intended against the great ideal for a higher standard of living. As I heard John Mitchell say recently in a lecture that the leading purpose of labor organizations is to 'raise the standard of living; better food, better clothes and more education for the average American citizen.' The danger, however, is that we suppose that extravagance and waste, in dress, food and furniture, is a better style of living. It is here that the idea of the simple life will help us. The simple life does not mean squalor, penuriousness and miserliness and the refusal to use any money for proper purposes. The simple life means knowledge of the best kind of food, the most suitable kinds of clothing and furniture and amusements. In other words the simple life looks for satisfaction as against satiety."

"It is said we pay fifteen million dollars a year for baseball. Already the moving picture shows have millions of capital attached to them and if we were to count up the sum expended for all kinds of questionable, not legitimate, amusements, we would find the total would reach alarming proportions. Now the question is: What are we doing all this for?—to get some fun; to make ourselves happy; to get pleasure and recreation. All these are apparently good. Where then is the danger? The danger is that we require so much for food, clothing and amusements that we have to work like slaves without any time for rest and leisure and the thinking and reading. We have to work like slaves to even enough to purchase things not necessary to the real joy and pleasure of life. In other words pleasure is no longer an satisfaction, but a just an addiction to the teeth. We must therefore get back to the great fact that man's pleasures and real joy of life are not dependent on the number of things he possesses, but on the quality. We are like the foolish parents who spend immense sums on elaborate mechanical toys for little children, which are a burden and wearisome to the children, who only want a rag doll and a sand pile on which they can exercise their own joyful imaginations."

"The Simple Life is the elegant life; the life of culture; the life of grace; and the life of the soul."

SLEEP-WALKER WAS BADLY HURT BY FALL

Young Henry Hessebauer Fractured Wrist and Nose by Stepping Out of Second Story Window.

Henry, the young son of George Hessebauer, 1120 Cherry street, walked in his sleep Saturday morning and stepped out of a second story window at his father's home. Directly beneath the window was a cellar-way, the doors of which had been left open. Young Hessebauer fell down the cellar stairs, fracturing his right wrist and nose and cutting a gash through his upper lip. Dr. Woods was summoned to attend to his injuries and the boy is getting along as nicely as possible.

HONEY BEES SWARM ON GAZETTE OFFICE

Up-to-Date Runaway Colony of Valuable Italian Species Alighted on Awning and Made Presence Known Yesterday.

Pedestrians on East Milwaukee street were afforded considerable entertainment yesterday afternoon by the swarming of a colony of several thousand Italian honey bees on the Gazette office awning and efforts, which eventually proved successful, to "shake" the visitors into a small wooden box which was provided for the purpose and mounted on a step-ladder. It was slow work until Master Archie Cunningham appeared on the scene and took a hand in the game, fearlessly scraping the yellow fellows off awning and ladder rungs and shoveling them into the little chest with a piece of cardboard.

Nobody was stung by the little creatures but at intervals while the "shaking" expedition was in progress the drivers of horses and automobiles, as well as wayfarers on foot, gave the place a wide berth. In the evening the colony had quieted down, Bert Goslin, advertising manager for the Gazette and an enthusiastic amateur gardener, was persuaded that a bee-reignment would be a distinct addition to his back yard and carried thither the five or six thousand potential "stings."

Whether the swarm escaped from some nearby or distant apiary; whether they can gather enough stores this late in the season to take care of themselves through the winter; and whether it will be possible for Mr. Goslin to hold his promised "honey party" are questions which the future must answer. The apiarist's axiom runs thusly:

"A swarm in June's worth a silver spoon;

A swarm in July isn't worth a fly."

However, there are plenty of clover fields in the vicinity.

Judge Grinn's father, who was at one time the largest bee-keeper in the world, first imported the Italian bees to America. The judge, himself, for many years had as many as 1,000 swarms. He says that in all likelihood the Gazette swarm will not lay by sufficient honey this season to keep it through the winter and that it will have to be fed from time to time on a solution of sugar and water.

The bees are not ugly when they are swarming and glided with honey, but at other times it is dangerous to even jar the hive without first "smoking" and feeding the inmates.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

WANT a new recipe for a simple way to have a lot of fun? Then listen while I tell you of the will of a wealthy Massachusetts woman who died recently.

Five thousand dollars to buy Christmas presents for the inmates of an incurable home.

One thousand dollars for car rides for the aged poor of Boston.

One thousand dollars to two Seamen's Aid Societies to buy clothing and medicine for shipwrecked sailors.

Five thousand dollars to buy the raised books for the children in a big institution for the blind.

You don't particularly want to make a will and you don't see any connection between that will and a recipe for having fun?

I am ashamed of you. I thought you were quicker witted than that.

Don't you imagine that Mrs. Spaulding had a lot of fun in imagining how much those old folks were going to delight in those unexpected car rides and how the poor, hopelessly sick folks were going to laugh and then maybe cry a bit for pleasure when they found her gifts in their stockings of a dark Christmas morning?

And although I don't know, never having heard of the lady before, I have a mighty good idea, from her will, that all her life she had a lot of that same kind of fun.

And that's the kind you can have.

You probably can't have the pleasure of making a will bequeathing $5,000 to buy blind books for blind children, but if you have an automobile or carriage you may have the pleasure of taking some blind child on a drive.

And lest you think that there would be no pleasure in a ride to anyone who saw nothing of all the beauty that he passed through, let me tell you that, as a matter of fact, there is no keener pleasure to a blind person than a ride in a carriage or more especially an automobile.

Some years ago when I was doing newspaper work in the city of Boston I attended a scrubwomen's picnic.

I'll never forget it.

A dozen scrubwomen were taken out into the beautiful country and for one day forgot their palls and sordid corridors and hands-and-knees existence, and romped and carried on like young girls.

I never saw any children enjoy a picnic as these women did that wonderful day.

I asked one of them when she had last been on a picnic. She thought for a moment and then told me half shamefacedly as if uncertain whether to be ashamed of her extravagance or proud of her darling.

"I went on a great bust last summer," she said. "One day it seemed to me as if I couldn't stand it not having any good time any longer and not seeing anything but dirty corridors and my kitchen, and so I up and took a ticket and went down to the Public Gardens and had a ride on the swing boat."

There are women like that right in your own neighborhood. I don't know what that neighborhood is, but I know there must be, because they are everywhere. Perhaps your own washerwoman is one of them.

Do I need to tell you that the bluest blues would yield to the reflected happiness you would be bathed in if you gave some of those people some sort of an outing?

You see my new recipe for having a lot of fun doesn't call for any expensive or rare ingredients.

On the contrary, it can always be made up out of any left-over blessings you happen to have on hand.

If you don't believe me, try it.

No, I don't mean that. Try it anyway.

DREAMS THAT COME TRUE.

By MARY RUSSELL.

Do you remember the dreams and aspirations of your youth? The days when the world was so full of beauty and every man in it a prince and every woman a queen?

Have you lost your dreams of beauty and every man in it a prince and every woman a queen?

Have you been awake and from those dreams?

Have you measured up to the standard you set for yourself?

And—for an answer—why have you failed?

Try to remember.

her where you took the wrong turning and passed from the golden dreams of a happy, hopeful youth to the so-called realizations of a life that has indeed a seamy side.

Was it when you allowed some one else who had not seen the vision place the spectacles of doubt over your eyes? Did you listen as some worldly youth destroyed the good name of a woman, with a word? Did you laugh and think it was merely to boast of conquests that perhaps were never made? And did you endeavor to emulate those bad endings? Was it when someone without wisdom spoke to you of the faithlessness of mankind that you heroes seemed to fade away, oh woman? Were you so willing to lose your dreams that you let them go gladly and replaced them with the inferior man who never came up to your standards?

Try to remember and then use your remembering wisely.

Idlers are frowned down upon in this everyday world. We are trying to make ourselves believe that we are too practical for mere dreams—but it is the dreamer who makes his dreams come true that discovers the secrets of the universe. It is the idealist that uplifts humanity.

True, the practical man and woman tend their aid, but they are like little children who neglect to do the right thing at the right time. They don't think!

To dream and dream wisely is to live in a world of transcendent beauty. It even opens the doors of joy to those who have forgotten how to dream. It shows the way to poet and mystic alike.

Then do not shut the gate to the garden of dreams that awakes wide for children. Help them to high ideals of life and then show them how to realize their ideals.

Who would not dream again the dreams of yesterday? Who would not gladly look at the world once more through the rose-tinted glasses of youth?

Then let the child live in its own enchanted world as much as is possible in this busy life of ours.

Do not be afraid to build up high ideals of manhood and womanhood in your boys and girls. It will not make them sentimental, but will help them to set their own standards high and try to realize within themselves the knightly valor and womanly virtues that they have dreamed.

Never allow a false sense of delicacy to keep you out of the enchanted realm in which a fanciful child revels, but enter in with reverence and with love help the dream come true.

SIX HUNDRED DOCTORS ASSEMBLE IN PASADENA

Meeting of American Institute of Homeopathy Attracts Large Attendance of Physicians.

Pasadena, Cal., July 11.—For the first time in its history, the American Institute of Homeopathy met west of the Rockies, when the sixty-sixth annual convention opened here today. There were in attendance about 600 physicians and the people of Pasadena are seeing to it that the doctors who have come from all parts of the country will not regret having made the long journey.

Last night memorial exercises for dead members were held, with Dr. J. M. Martin of Denver in the chair. Among the speakers were Drs. W. John Harris of St. Louis, James C. Wood of Cleveland, F. H. Kellogg and H. M. Bishop of Los Angeles.

The formal opening of the meeting will come this evening, when the visitors will be welcomed by Governor Elliott, Mayor Barley, Dr. F. B. Kellogg of Los Angeles and Dr. J. W. Herbert. The response will be by Dr. Herbert Dunn Schenck of Brooklyn, N. Y. After the delivery of the president's address by Dr. James W. Ward of San Francisco, there will be a musical program and ball.

Wednesday afternoon the members are invited to visit Mt. Lowe and ride on the famous scenic railway among the clouds. Wednesday evening the ladies of the Melfessan of California give a musical to the members of the institute and their ladies. Thursday afternoon an auto ride around Los Angeles will be taken. Thursday evening a banquet will be given to the members of the institute in the main dining hall of the Hotel Maryland. Friday afternoon the Pasadena Polo club has arranged a match game between crack teams, and other sports, which the doctors are invited to witness. The meeting ends Saturday.

WILL PROBE MODERN WOODMEN.

State Insurance Department Promises Quiz of Fraternal Order.

Chicago, July 11.—An examination of the Modern Woodmen of America, a fraternal society with more than 1,000,000 members holding certificates calling for the ultimate payment of more than $1,000,000,000, has been requested from the state insurance department by F. S. Webb of Chicago, a member of the society since 1885 and for several years manager of the advertising department of its monthly journal.

Webb charges, in effect, that various officers of the society, and particularly F. O. Van Gilder, editor of its monthly journal, withheld from the insurance examiner in 1906 and 1907 Webb's itemized monthly statements of the advertising business done, and in their stead furnished "false and misleading statements," by which the insurance department was "deceived and induced to direct at Webb's criticisms of certain methods then censured."

Superintendent Potter, seen at Springfield with respect to Webb's request and charges, said that an examination of the Modern Woodmen would be made as soon as practicable.

SEES ALL RELIGIONS JOINED.

John D. Rockefeller Expects Creed Differences to End.

Cleveland, O., July 11.—John D. Rockefeller, Sr., in an address before the Bible class of the Euclid Avenue Baptist church, prophesied the amalgamation of all the religions of the world. To hear out his statement, he quoted a letter from a Roman Catholic bishop, whose name he did not disclose.

"There is more of the spirit of Christ in the world today than ever before," said the oil king. "It is the greatest power. People who love him are coming together and they will unite. Regardless of the slight differences due to many religious organizations, the same spirit is there and the motive will accomplish as much."

DIAZ AND CORRAL ARE CHOSEN.

Mexico's President is Re-Elected for His Seventh Term.

City of Mexico, July 11.—Gen. Porfirio Diaz, who will be eighty years old September 13, was re-elected for the sixth time as president of Mexico for six years. Ramon Corral was elected vice-president.

Reports from all states are to the effect that in the electoral colleges Diaz and Corral won overwhelming victories and that no disorder of any kind occurred. Diaz was first-elected president in 1876.

NEGRO SHOT DOWN BY POSSE.

Black Reels Arrest in Swamp and Meets Quick Death.

Tampa, Fla., July 11.—Sam McIntosh, a negro, was surrounded in a swamp near Kathleen and shot to death when he resisted arrest at the hands of a sheriff's posse.

McIntosh was being pursued for shooting six times at A. Strickland, president of the Strickland Lumber company.

He had tried to borrow money from Strickland and been refused.

Pellagra a Blood Disease?

Durham, N. C., July 11.—By a system of injections into the blood Mrs. R. M. Haxley of Hillsboro is reported cured of the most aggravated case of pellagra. The treatment's success, medical men believe, proves that pellagra is a disease of the blood.

DR. COOK FOUND ONCE MORE.

Explorer in Andes, Says Traveler, Who Shows Photograph.

New York, July 11.—Another traveler has come back from South America with tales of the vanished polar explorer, Dr. Frederick A. Cook. This time it is Dr. Robert N. Keeley of Philadelphia, and he brings a photograph to support his tale. Doctor Cook shows in the print wearing a long rain coat, a golf cap, and without the mustache he had when he toured the country giving lectures.

Postal Deficit Cut Down.

Washington, July 11.—More than $100,000,000 reduction in the postal deficit has been made in the first nine months of the fiscal year just ended, according to final returns from the auditor.

Idaho Ahead of Egypt.

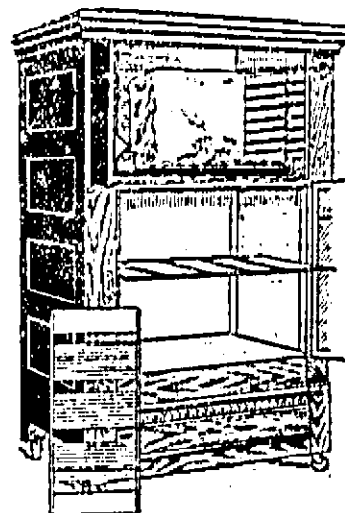

America has now triumphed over Egypt and India in holding over the desert land in the world. This is what is known as the Twin Falls county in the state of Idaho. The ultimate area under irrigation, when the entire Twin Falls project shall have been completed, will be 1,250,000 acres.—Harper's Weekly.

Race Traits.

The Celt, or the kind of man our ignorance calls Celt, has shown himself more than any of his brethren of other races dogged in following his ideas—whether in politics, in religion or in social customs—dogged and dauntless, beaten often but never giving in, never changing his demand and not readily even changing his tactics.—London Freeman's Journal.

DENTAL

I believe I got the worst cases of extracting in all this end of the State. All the Janesville Dentists seem to dump their bad cases of extracting on to me.

No dentist likes to tackle these difficult cases of broken-down, rotten, and decayed roots.

So (it's told me by eye witnesses) they disinterestedly remark that they hear that Dr. Richards extracts teeth.

So let it be. I do extract thousands of teeth.

Not ruthlessly, but by force of no doubt, and the best of all, I do it painless.

The truth of which is testified to by my patients.

If you are in distress with your teeth, come to me direct.

INTERURBAN CO. TO ABANDON TRACKS ON THE WEST SIDE

According to Statement Made by Attorney T. S. Nolan in Circuit Court This Afternoon.

In circuit court this afternoon the matter of the determination of damages by the commissioners in some score or more actions started by property owners on South Franklin and South Jackson streets came up for consideration. The first case, it will be remembered, resulted in the award of only nominal damages but an appeal is to be taken from the said award. In making for a postponement until October 3, Attorney T. S. Nolan representing the company stated that by that time, according to present plans, the track on the west side of the river would be abandoned and removed and property owners would have no further ground for complaint. Instead of having a loop, the R. R. & J. Co. expects to enter Janesville only on the east side.

SELECT SLOGAN FOR GREATER JANSVILLE

Industrial and Commercial Club Directors Hold Important Meeting.

This noon the board of directors of the new Janesville Industrial and Commercial club held their regular Monday meeting at the Myers hotel. Mr. DeArmand, the permanent secretary, who is now a resident of Janesville, brought several important matters before the directors for their consideration, probably the most important of which was the slogan which Janesville will use hereafter.

The board chose the two slogans which in their estimation meant the most and fully expressed the spirit of Janesville. There will be used in advertising and on any printed matter which may be sent out of the city. The slogan which was given first place is: "You'll Succeed in Janesville," sent in by Miss Mabel Kleeb of 18 South Franklin street.

It expresses in the fullest intent the spirit of a new Janesville and it carries a strong message to the outside world. Janesville is a huge success as are her industrial and manufacturing industries and the above slogan carries out that idea for manufacturers who may be induced to locate here.

The second choice of the board is: "Grow with Janesville," and was sent in by David Carpenter Atwood. Mr. DeArmand being a comparative stranger, did not know who turned in any of the slogans—he advised that the board pick out the best slogan without regard to whose they were. This they did.

Another important move of the board of directors was the decision to employ a man for Mr. DeArmand's assistant. A man freight rates will be the most important business to be considered by the new secretary it was decided that if a young man who had some knowledge of freight rates could be secured, this work could be carried to completion much quicker than otherwise. Mr. DeArmand will pick his assistant at a salary stipulated by the board.

Business men who are not members of the new Commercial club will be solicited this week and it is hoped that the membership can be increased to over 200; there are now about 110 members, all working for a greater Janesville.

Mr. DeArmand expects to be located in his new office about Thursday of this week. The offices are on the fourth floor of the Jackson block.

MURPHY'S HEARING SET FOR JULY 16

Kankakee Hobo Who Assaulted Brakeman Held at Evanston May Be Asylum Runaway.

Peter Murphy of Kankakee, Ill., who drew a revolver and threatened to kill Conductor J. R. Deegan when the latter tried to put him off a freight train near Evansville Friday evening and who, without warning, struck brakeman Edward Hallman in the face with a stone when the trainman flashed a light on him, appeared in municipal court this morning and his hearing was set for July 16. In the meantime, being unable to furnish $500 bail, he will remain in the county jail.

Murphy is believed to have escaped from some penal institution or lunatic asylum. On the under side of the shoulder of his coat are printed the name "Peter Murphy" and the large letter "E." Indicating in the opinion of Capt. Burgess of the county farm, a department in some large establishment for the insane.

The same man's eyes are extraordinarily brilliant. He is utterly indifferent to his own best interests and talks between clenched teeth in a manner filled with venomous epithets. He was in Janesville last Friday and tried to persuade a farmer whom he met in front of Reed's cigar store to engage in a pursuit of some easy money. The farmer was interested until he learned that the job involved a neat little hold-up and robbery.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, July 11, 1870.—Police Court.—The case of the city of Janesville against J. Talbot & Co., for obstructing the sidewalk, came on this morning. Talbot & Co. are boot and shoe dealers, and have a large wooden boot for a sign. The complaint set forth the fact that the top of this wooden boot projected twelve inches over the line designated by a city ordinance. The jury brought in a verdict for the defendant, not guilty.

Justice's Court.—Before Justice Burgess on Saturday afternoon last, five individuals, boys and men, were brought up on charge of petit larceny. Said larceny consisted of stealing chips from M. H. Curtis and E. W. Harker. The prisoners were bound over to appear on Tuesday, and part of them, failing to give bail, were committed to jail.

Jottings.—Farmers have commenced the harvest of barley and winter wheat. The steam boilers for heating the new court house are being placed in position in the basement of the building.

The house of Rev. Mr. Wood, on East street, was entered on Saturday, by some person or persons in search of rations, and all the cooked provisions stolen.

It is the intention of the builders to complete the Court street Methodist church about the middle of August. The building will cost them $30,000 when finished.

It is reported the C. & N. W. R. R. Co. contemplated building a new bridge over Rock river at Monterey, to replace the old structure now in use at that point.

The officers of the Northwestern railroad are in the city today looking over the company's affairs with a view to curtail expenses. There is some fluttering among employees.

Beloit is famous throughout the state as the City of Ministers. This fame she deserves and Janesville is not in the least envious. But when she sends a Rev. up here, she also frequently does, it would not materially to the sabbath comfort of our churchgoers, if he would gently hint to him before he starts, that when he has preached as far as fourteenthly the congregation will cheerfully excuse him from the "finally," the "lastly" and the "conclusion."

CONDEMNED TO DIE; LYNCHED.

Appeal to Supreme Court Granted, Mob Hanged Murderer.

Rayville, La., July 11.—Aroused by the fact that an appeal to the supreme court had been taken, following his condemnation to death here Friday on the charge of having murdered Town Marshal C. C. Chénault, a mob battered down the doors of the parish jail at Rayville, dragged J. D. Freeman, a blacksmith, from his cell and hanged him on the same spot where he had slain the marshal. A deep gash in Freeman's throat led to the theory that he had intended to commit suicide when he heard the mob's approach.

"This is the outcome of the appeal," was the note found pinned to the dead man's clothing.

FILM SHOW CAUSES HOLD-UP.

Boys Attempt to Emulate Train Robbers of Moving Pictures.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 11.—Two boys arrested at a cheap hotel here are held in connection with the attempt to hold up a Mount Washington street car. Police Lieutenant Shriver Stewart was probably fatally shot.

The prisoners give their names as William Herman, alias William Naper, eighteen years old, and his cousin, Frank Chudrak, alias Edward Miller, the same age.

Herman is said to have confessed he and his companion saw a moving-picture show of a western-train robbery then went to a pawnshop and bought a revolver. He then told of a third man who suggested the robbery.

The Salmon encountered a rough sea July 4 and 5, but suffered no damage. She demonstrated the practicability of the submarine for long ocean voyages. The distance between Quincy and Hamilton is about eight hundred miles.

SERIOUS PROBLEM FOR THE GROWERS

Severe Drouth and Hot Weather Will Cut Down Tobacco Crop to About One Half.

[Special to this paper.]—With no rain for three weeks or more, excepting what fell Saturday afternoon, tobacco growers are facing a serious problem. The long continued drouth and intense hot weather has been most severe on the growing weed and at best the growers estimate about half a crop. The situation is serious, to say the least. The hay crop also is small and many farmers will fall short on feed.

BALK MADRID ATTACK ON TOWN.

American Plantera and Estrada Soldiers Rout Gunboat San Jacinto.

Bluefields, July 11.—The combined defense of a force of American planters and merchants and the Estrada soldiers successfully balked an attack against Pearl Lagoon when the Madrid gunboat San Jacinto, backed up by the gunboat Venus, directed a heavy fire into the center of the town.

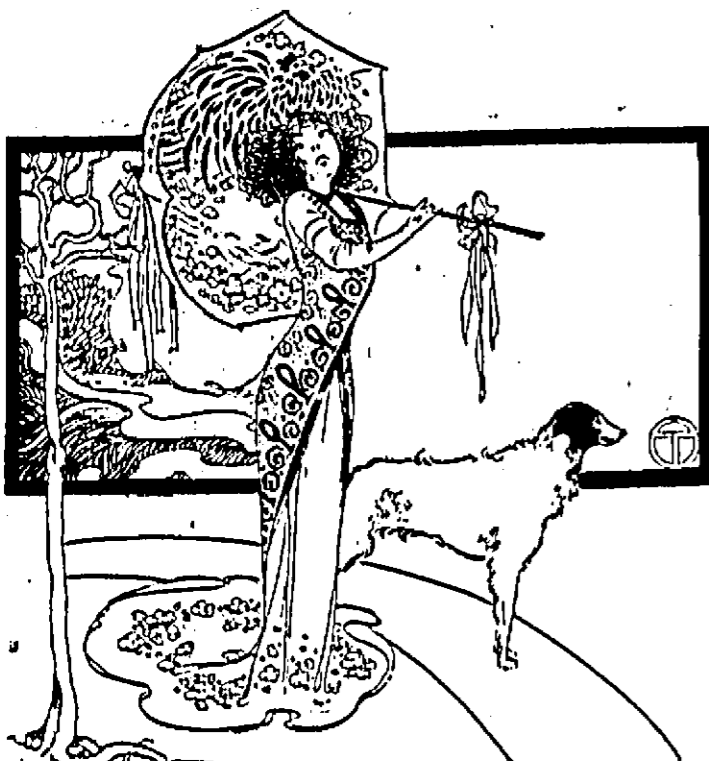

Concealed guns set upon the coast since the last Madrid invasion were aimed against the San Jacinto. Captain Rells of the gunboat and a score of the crew were killed outright, while forty or fifty more of the men were wounded. The attacking gunboat was practically disabled.

the secret of his whole poetic alchemy: Gedenke zu leben. Yes, "think of living!"
Thy life, wert thou the "pittifulest of all the sons of earth," is no idle dream but a solemn reality. It is thy own; it is all thou hast to front eternally with. Work, then, even as he has done, and does—"Like a star unobscured, yet unassuming."—Carver.

HUGE ORDERS HAVE BEEN GIVEN

RAILROADS EXPEND MILLIONS FOR EQUIPMENT AND DIVI-DENDS INCREASE.

GREAT PROSPERITY AT HAND

$37,625,000 to Be Shared Among Stockholders of 80 Corporations in 1910
—B. & O. to Spend $7,000,000 for
"Rolling Stock."

New York, July 11.—The enormous orders placed within the past few days for the large railroads of the country for additional equipment shows continued evidences of the great prosperity that is surging all over the country.

No such tremendous sums of money have ever been spent by the railroads.
It is said, except in the initial construction of a road, or in a large extension. The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad company alone has appropriated $7,000,000 for new equipment.

Roads Are Pulse of Country.
Not merely in money spent for improvements of facilities, but in the declaring of dividends by the railroads lies the proof that the good times which returned a year or more ago have in no way diminished. The railroads are the pulse of the country.

By their retrenchments in hard times they are the first to indicate the coming of financial stringency and disaster. Wall street sees in the bold enterprises of the railroads at this time signs of great encouragement. When the railroads are asked to carry freight beyond the capacity of their cars, and when they place orders to meet the demands upon them, business men declare that every business is enjoying prosperity.

Dividends Increase $46,230,000.

Since January 1 eighty-six railroads and industrial corporations in this country have increased their disbur-sments or declared initial or resumed dividends to the extent of $46,230,000 a year. Twenty-three of these corporations are railroads, their increase alone representing $15,000,000. Up to June 1 of this year the aggregate dividend payments from the eighty-six corporations in question have amounted to about $298,000,000, which is an increase of about $46,230,000 over the first five months of last year.
No better proof could be given, it is declared, that the country will enjoy throughout 1910 almost unexampled prosperity.

The disbursements in dividends of industrial companies during the last five months have amounted to $154,- 000,000, which is an increase of about $25,000,000 over the same period last year.

Big Equipment Orders.
The Baltimore and Ohio has been forced to make preparations for the expenditure of $7,000,000 to meet the demands of the increased traffic over all of its lines. The company has already placed orders for the purchase of 5,500 freight and coal cars and for fifty locomotives of the most modern type. The orders are all to be rushed through.

The Hawley lines, including the Chicago and Alton, the Minneapolis and St. Louis and the Iowa Central, have shown such increased freight business that the management has voted to place orders for 5,500 freight cars. And these, it is believed, will not meet all freight demands upon the companies.

Railroad bridges are going up with a rapidity that also bespeaks prosperity.

ENGLISH DUKE IS NEAR DEATH.

Westminster Has Narrow Escape

Through Capitalizing of Hydroplane.
Covea, England, July 11.—The duke of Westminster narrowly escaped drowning while experimenting with a new hydroplane in the Covea roads.
He was rescued, unconscious, and it was only after artificial respiration had been brought into play that he showed signs of life. He owes his life to the quick thinking and action of Lady Crichton, who sent a launch to the assistance of the duke and his companions, struggling almost helplessly in the sea.

MAN KILLED BY EARL KISER.

Former Bicycle Champion Runs Down

Pedestrian With Auto—Arrested.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 11.—Earl H.
Kiser, who was one of the champion bicycle riders of the country at one time, was arrested for causing the death of Hugh Callen, aged sixty, Kiser, while driving a touring car around a corner, struck Callen who was crossing the street and ran over him. Kiser was placed under arrest and later released under $2,500 bond.

Children Hurt in Panic.

Wausau, Wis., July 11.—Two hundred and fifty persons, mostly children, were thrown into a panic in a theater when a moving picture film caught fire and exploded, spreading flames over the rear of the house.
Several children were bruised in the crush for the exit.

Four Warships for Sale.

Washington, July 11.—Secretary of the Navy Meyer has signed an order authorizing the sale of the third-class cruisers Detroit and Boston, the gun-boat Concord and the torpedo boat Winslow. From a military standpoint the usefulness of these vessels has passed.

Advertising, as now practiced, is not a lottery. The history of modern business successes proves every penny wholly spent will pay.

The Courage of Captain Plum

By JAMES
OLIVER
CURWOOD

"He took it," he whispered exultant-
ly. "He will deliver it this morning.
If possible he will bring us an answer. I kept out a hundred and told him that a reply would be worth that to him."

Nathaniel did not speak, and after a moment's silence Nell continued:
"The jury is assembling. We will know our fate very soon."

He rose to his feet, his words quivering with nervous excitement, and Nathaniel heard him kicking about in the straw. In another breath his voice blazed through the gloom in a sharp, startled command:

"Good God, Nat, come here!"

Something in the strange foreboding of Nell's words startled Nathaniel.
Like the thrilling twinges of an electric shock, it darted across the cell and found Marlon's brother with his shoulder against the door.

"It's open!" he whispered. "The door is open!"

The hinges creaked under his weight. A current of air struck them in the face. Another instant and they stood in the corridor, listening, crushing back the breath in their lungs, not daring to speak. Gently Nell drew his companion back into the cell.

"There's a chance—one chance in ten thousand!" he whispered. "At the end of this corridor there is a door—the jailer's door. If that's not locked, we can make a run for it! I'd rather die fighting—than here!"

He slipped out again, pressing Nathaniel back.

"Wait for me!"

Nathaniel heard him stealing slowly through the blackness. A minute later he returned.

"Locked!" he exclaimed.

In the opposite direction a ray of light caught Nathaniel's eye.

"Where does that light come from?"

he asked.

"Through a hole about as big as your two hands. It was made for a stone pipe. If we were up there we could see into the jury room."

They moved quietly down the corridor until they stood under the aperture, which was four or five feet above their heads. "Through it they could hear the sounds of voices but could not distinguish the words that were being spoken."

"The jury," explained Nell. "They're in a devil of a hurry! I wonder why?"

Nathaniel could feel his companion shrink himself in the darkness.

"Lord—for my revolver!" he whispered excitedly. "One shot through that hole would be worth a thousand notes to the girls!" He caught Marion's brother by the arm as a voice louder than the others came to them.

"Strang!"

"Yes—the king!" affirmed Nell laying an expectant hand on him.

"Hush!"

"It would like to see—"

Even in these last hours of failure and defeat the fire of adventure flamed up in Nathaniel's blood. He felt his nerves leaping again to action, his arms grew tense with new ambition—almost he forgot that death had him cornered and was already preparing to strike him down. Another thought replaced all fear of this. A few feet beyond that log wall were gathered the men whose bloodthirsty deeds had written for them one of the reddest pages in history—men who had burned their souls out in the destruction of human lives, whose passions and loves and hatreds carried with them life and death; men who had bathed themselves in blood and lived in blood until the people of the mainland called them "the leeches."

"The Mormon jury!" Nathaniel spoke the words scarcely above his breath.

"I'd like to take a look through that hole, Nell," he added.

"Easy enough—if you keep quiet.
Here!" He doubled himself against the wall. "Climb up on my shoulders."

No sooner had Nathaniel's face come to a level with the hole than a soft cry of astonishment escaped him.
Nell whispered hoarsely but he did not reply. He was looking into a room twice as large as the dungeon cell and lighted by narrow windows whose lower panes were on a level with the ground outside. At the farther end of the room, in full view, was a platform raised several feet from the main floor. On this platform were seated ten men, immovable as statues, every face gazing straight ahead. Directly in front of them, on the lower floor, stood the Mormon king, and at his side, partly held in the embrace of one of his arms was Winsome!

Strang's voice came to him in a low, solemn monotone, its rumbling depth drowning the words he was speaking, and as Nathaniel saw him lift his arm from about the girl's shoulders and place his great hand upon her head he dug his own fingers fiercely into the rotting logs and an imprecation burned in his breath. He did not need to hear what the king was saying. It was a pantomime in which every gesture was understandable. But even Nell, huddled against the wall, heard the last words of the prophet as they thundered forth in sudden passion.

"Winsome Croche demands the death of her father's murderer!"

Nathaniel felt his companion's shoulders sinking under his weight and he leaped quickly to the floor.

"Winsome is there!" he pointed desperately. "Do you want to see her?"

Nell hesitated.

"No. Your boots gouge my shoulder. Take them off."

The scene had changed when Nathaniel took his position again. The jury had left its platform and was filling through a small door. Winsome and the king were alone.

The girl had turned from him. She was deathly pale and yet she was wonderfully beautiful, so beautiful that Nathaniel's breath came in quick dread as the king approached her. He could see the triumph in his eyes, a terrible fierceness in his face. He seized Winsome's hand and spoke to her in a soft, low voice, so low that it came to Nathaniel only in a murmur. Then, in a moment, he began stroking the shimmering glory of her hair, caressing the silken curls between his fingers until the blood seemed as if it must burst like hot sap from Nathaniel's face. Suddenly Winsome drew back from him, the pallor gone from her face, her eyes blazing like angry stars. She had resented but a step when the prophet sprang to her and caught her in his arms, straining her to him until the acorn on her lips was choked to a gurgling cry. In answer to that cry a yell of rage burst itself from Nathaniel's throat.

"Stop, you hell-bound!" he cried threateningly. "Stop!"

He shrieked the words again and again, maddened beyond control, and the Mormon king, whose self-possession was more that of devil than man, still held the struggling girl in his arms as he turned his head toward the voice and saw Nathaniel's long arm and knotted fist threatening him through the hole in the wall. Then Nell's name in a piercing scream resounded through the dungeon corridor and in response to it the man under Nathaniel straightened himself so quickly that his companion fell back to the floor.

"Grat God! what is the matter, Nat? Quick! let me up!"

Nathaniel staggered to his feet, the breath half gone out of his body, and in another instant Nell was at the opening. The great room into which he looked was empty.

"What was it?" he cried, leaping down. "What were they doing with Winsome?"

"It was the king," said Nathaniel, struggling to master himself. "The king put his arms around Winsome and—she struck him!"

"That was all?"

"He kissed her as she fought—and I yelled."

"She struck him!" Nell cried. "God bless little Winsome, Nat! and—God bless her!"

Nell's breath came fast as he caught the other's hand.

"I'd give my life if I could help you —and Marlon!"

"We'll give them together," said Nathaniel coolly, turning down the corridor. "Here's our chance. They'll come through that door to select us in our cell. Shall we die fighting?"

He was groping about in the mud of the floor for some object.

"If we had a couple of stones—"

"It would be madness—worse than madness!" interposed Nell, steadying himself. "There will be a dozen rifles at that door when they open it. We must return to the cell. It is worth dying a harder death to hear from Marlon and Winsome. And we will hear from them before night."

They retreated into the dungeon.

A few minutes later the door opened cautiously at the head of the corridor. A light blazed through the blackness and after an interval of silence the jailer made his appearance in front of the cell, a pistol in his hand,

"Don't be afraid, Joekim," said Nell reassuringly. "You forgot the door and we've been having a little fun with the jury. That's all!"

The nervous whiteness left Joekim's face at this cheerful report and he was about to close the door when Nathaniel exhibited a handful of gold pieces in the candle-light and frantically beckoned the man to come in.
The jailer's eyes glittered understandingly and with a backward glance down the lighted corridor he thrust his head and shoulders inside.

"I've hundred dollars for that note!" he whispered. "Five hundred beside the four you've got!"

"Joekim's a fool!" said Nell, as the door closed on them. "I feel sorry for him."

"Why?"

"Because he is accepting the money.
Don't you suppose that you have been searched? Of course you have—probably before I came, while you were half dead on the floor. Somebody knows that you have the gold."

"Why hasn't it been taken?"

For a full minute Nell made no answer. And his answer, when it did come, first of all was a laugh.

"By George, that's good!" he cried exultingly. "Of course you were searched—and by Joekim! He knows, but he hasn't made a report of it to Strang because he believes that in some way he will get hold of the money. He is taking a big risk—but he's winning! I wonder what his first scheme was?"

"Thought I'd bury it, perhaps," vouchsafed Nathaniel, throwing himself upon the straw. "There's room for two here, Nell."

A long silence fell between them.
The action during the last few minutes had been too great an effort for Nathaniel and his wound troubled him again. As the pain and his terrible thoughts of Marlon's fate returned to him he regretted that they had not ended it all in one last fight at the door. There, at least, they might have died like men instead of waiting to be shot down like dogs, their hands bound behind them, their brands nailed to the Mormon rifles. He did not fear death. In more than one game he had played against his hand, more often for love of the sport than not, but there was a horror in being pinned up and tortured by it. He had come to look upon it as a fair enemy, filled, of course, with audacity and treachery, which were the laws of the game; but he had never dreamed of it as anything but meretricious in its quickness. It was as if his adversary had broken an inviolable pact with him and he sweated and tossed on his bed of straw while Nell sat cool and silent on the bench against the dungeon wall. Sheer exhaustion brought him relief, and after a time he fell asleep.

He was awakened by Nell. The white face of Marlon's brother was over him when he opened his eyes and he was shaking him roughly by the shoulder.

"Wake up, Nat!" he cried. "For heaven's sake—wake up!"

He drew back as Nathaniel sleepily roused himself.

"I couldn't help it, Nat," he apologized, laughing nervously. "You've lain there like a dead man for hours.
My head is splitting with this damned silence. Come—smoke up! I got some tobacco from our jailer and he loaned me his pipe."

Nathaniel jumped to his feet. A fresh candle was burning on the table and in its light he saw that a startling change had come into Nell's face during the hours he had slept. It looked to him thinner and whiter, its lines had deepened, and the young man's eyes were filled with gloomy defection.

"Why didn't you awaken me sooner?" he exclaimed. "I deserve a good drubbing for leaving you alone here!"

He saw fresh food on the table. "It's late," he began.

"That is our dinner and supper," interrupted Nell. He held his watch close to the candle. "Half past eight!"

"And no word—from—"

"No."

The two men looked deeply into each other's eyes.

To be continued.

The Optimist's Corner
Daily Helps to Health and Happiness
By GEORGE F. BUTLER, A. M., M. D.

Many of the ideas that we have inherited help to narrow and cramp the inner life. We must change our habits of thought. The proper adjustment to our life and environment and the daily effort to gain one's peace and self-control, is effective in proportion to the clearness and strength of our thought and the confidence we put into it. The power of self help is within us, like the air we breathe, ever awaiting our recognition. By a determined effort you can rise above any troublesome difficulty, or push through it with comparative ease. Approach any trouble that may confront you with quiet confidence that you have sufficient strength to overcome any obstacle. Help abounds.
The spirit that awaits our cooperation. There is no cause for fear. Things are not so bad as they seem, nor is there any reason for worry or discouragement. If you try earnestly, you can lift yourself into peace, restfulness and self-confidence.
We find what we look for; if you look for trouble, trouble will surely come; if you believe firmly that you can surmount all difficulties, in all probability you will succeed. Do not despair, but take hold of yourself and say, "This shall be so."

same care, of the same full ripe, well-cured tobacco. Not merely light (color alone doesn't count), but made with naturally mild filler as well as wrapper.
When you've time to finish your smoke, choose a Robert Burns; when you haven't, don't throw away half of your cigar, but buy the Little Bobbie. Only your pocket book will know the difference.
Same dealer sells both.
